

HUNTER'S SAUVIGNON BLANC RATED IN OUTSTANDING TOP TEN

Hunter's Wines Ltd is delighted to learn that their 2009 Marlborough Sauvignon Blanc has been selected by a prestigious international publication as one of the ten Outstanding Marlborough Sauvignon Blancs for 2009.

Wine Spectator is the go-to authority for wine drinkers in the United States and around the world. In choosing Hunter's 2009 Sauvignon Blanc the publication awarded it an impressive score of 90.

"This is a significant achievement," said Hunter's Managing Director Jane Hunter CNZM OBE. "Wine spectator is the 'bible' for wine lovers and a top score creates a groundswell of interest in the wine."

Hunter was also pleased that Marlborough Sauvignon Blancs can command their own tasting category. "Once again this is proof-positive that when it comes to the world's top wine producing regions, Marlborough is up there with the very best," she added.

Hunter's Wines Ltd is one of the pioneers of Marlborough winemaking. Founder Ernie Hunter recognized the potential of the region and developed a succession of vintages that were honoured in the United Kingdom, United States and elsewhere and did much to establish Marlborough's international reputation.
